Course Feedback and Action Taken

2023-2024

Recommendation	Action Taken
Most of the students have expressed that the courses were well structured, relevant, supported with field visits and the teachers provided latest information on the subjects taught and they felt motivated. Some of them have felt that the course content needs to be updated.	Faculty were appreciated and encouraged to use innovative teaching methods and give assignments at a higher order thinking to enable them apply the concepts learnt appropriately. It was decided to revise the syllabus for the courses in the subsequent BOS

Recommendation	Action Taken
The very good rating of nearly 95% confirm that the students appreciated all the courses for their well-structured nature and relevance.	The department took the credit for meticulous design of curriculum. The respective faculty were appreciated and encouraged to deliver their best consistently.
Integration of field visits along with the theory courses were also acknowledged and appreciated.	Seven educational/industrial visits were organized this academic year to expose students to the real-time applications.
In one or two theory papers, around 10% of students found the course lacking in recent technical advancements and insights.	Course teachers took extra efforts to make the contents more interesting to the slow learners and help them understand the concepts better. More application-oriented recent videos were also shown to the students. It was also decided to revise those courses in near future.

2023-2024

The course evaluation given by students for 90% of the courses was very good. Students have appreciated the syllabus and found it to be structured, relevant, and providing the latest information on the subject. For a few courses, they have asked for study materials to be made available; hence, the course teachers provided additional learning resources in the form of simple book references and web references. For lab courses, to understand the subject in an easier way, lab manuals, demonstrations of experiments/programs, and case studies were given. To stimulate interest in the course, peer teaching-learning methodology and group study were adopted for certain courses. Field trips were arranged to help them understand the practical nuances of the various courses they have studied.
